Beast 1333 - Mother nature lyrics

How many times must I turn on the tv and see the hate poppin out like it was 3d

How many times must I shout my door to ignore the negative who*es from before

Let me do it, you will see me blossom, immortal awesome and we can all be that you just got to know what path you're crossing

The one we have now is a monster of destruction, busy trucks buzzing, people with numb chucks running

This world is crazy, can't you see it and I absolutely mean it when I say stop the fighting, mother nature is crying

It's to painful to see that apart of me is falling because one of you mother fers just decides to be a f up

Nothing is perfect so never try to understand this because this place is a mess for the perfect balance of reason

Without hate there would be no love and that message was literally sent to you from up above
